Principals, Suzanne Newman and Ralph M. Newman, were the founders of one of greater New York's first (mid-80s) fully computerized and networked Ad Agencies / PR Firms, serving clients of all sizes. Recognizing the emerging importance of the Internet, they formed Dott Communications LLC (Dott-Comm) in 1996 to provide Internet-based solutions for business, together with a full range of supporting technical and marketing services.

Today, Dott-Comm is a one-stop full service provider of integrated Internet and marketing services, designing, redesigning, developing, maintaining and hosting web sites. Web services include design, redesign, development, maintenance and hosting. Marketing services support the web site with consultation, corporate identity, graphic design, advertising, print production and public relations efforts.
